The Bertelsmann Foundation and the Institute for World Economics cordially invite you to the presentation of the

Sustainable Governance Indicators 2011 (SGI) – Policy Performance and Executive Capacity in the OECD

The SGI 2011, recently published by the Bertelsmann Foundation, constitutes a new instrument for comparing and assessing the need and capacity for policy reform in the OECD world (www.sgi-network.org). With its dual focus on the sustainability of democracy and market economy as well as the governmental management activities in 31 OECD countries the SGI goes far beyond existing indices.

The results of the SGI 2011 will be presented with a special focus on the Central and Eastern European OECD-countries.

For your advance information please find attached the detailed conference program.
